

Thank you for agreeing to take the DISC profile. Thank you for taking a few minutes out of your busy schedule to take the DISC Profile assessment. It will be a great asset to your personal and professional development.

The DISC Profile is one of the oldest, most validated, reliable behavior assessments used within organizations to improve interpersonal relationships, productivity, teamwork and communication. It is easy to take and it only takes about 10 minutes to complete. There is no right or wrong answers for DISC assessment. It is a non-judgmental tool used for discussion of people's behavioral differences. You will be asked to complete a series of questions that produce a detailed report about your personality and behavior.

By knowing your personality preferences, you will gain greater understanding and clarity into your preferences, your strengths and areas you may want to develop further. Through better understanding of yourself, you also will be able to appreciate the styles and behaviors of others. You can use your greater understanding and improved self-awareness to assist you in making development and career decisions to have a more satisfaction in your job, your relationships and your life.

Simply put, the DISC Profile provides a common language that people can use to better understand themselves and adapt their behaviors with others within a work team, an employee-boss relationship, a leadership position, or other relationships.
